1. We covered the sigsetjmp and siglongjmp functions in lecture (Slides XXII-25, XXII-26, and XXII-27). The sigsetjmp function saves some information in the sigjmp_buf data structure so that the caller’s context can be restored following a call to siglongjmp, resulting in sigsetjmp’s returning a second time. What information is saved?