

I completed CS195I: User Interface and Experience for my capstone experience.

Throughout the course of the semester, I worked with a team of fellow students to create a functional website which can be viewed at www.brunomarketplace.com. The site set up a marketplace for the Brown community to connect with each other to exchange buy and sell goods. The creation of the site was a culmination of my studies because it centered on applying abstract concepts (in this case design) with a final, usable piece of code.
